

Where Are They Now

Swingin' Utters

I believed in Julie
When she said how easy it could be
And I believed in Johnny
When he spoke his words of anarchy
And I believed in Joe
When he said we had to fight
And I believed in Jimmy
When he told us to unite

Where are they now? (2x)
Where are they six years on
And they're all gone
And now it's all gone sour
Where are they now?

I remember nights in SoHo
Writing on the walls of a shopping mall
I turned on the telly
To show what a good choice of words could do
Was it ever worth it,
Causing all the fuss?
You know, I believed in them,
Don't you believe in us?

No more kids are innocent
We won't get fooled again
Only faces ever change
The song remains the same
