Bunny

Sydney Ross Mitchell

Show me a body in your backyard
Make your confession
I'd say praise be, my sweet baby
You sent him to heaven

Sometimes I dream I'm in the arms of a tin man
He calls me Bunny, he looks like he loves me
But I know that he can't

You can't hurt me, I'm a cowboy, I'm your man
We hang on to wild horses for as long as we can

You were set to bruise me from the moment we met
You're made of iron, but I'm only flesh
You didn't even know I was hurting
You've never bled
You didn't flinch when I started to cry
You just saw water falling from my eyes
It's not in your nature to know that there's hurt in goodbye
I know your code will erase my memory from your mind
But I'm not hard wired
I couldn't forget if I tried
Bunny, I've tried
Bunny, I've tried

I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm trying

But I'm not hard wired
I couldn't forget if I tried
