

Mercy

Sylosis

Fall from the darkness and swallow a choking breath winds howl and scream and tear the scorched earth Scatter the ashes lower the casket forever in turmoil buried beneath the broken soil

Cast me into desolation I'll find my path again torn into pieces yet each step guides me back the fires are built and promise a change that will be repaid there was no mercy for you or I so the earth will be set ablaze

Blood for blood surrender or don't but forgiveness is a lie to behold

Submission
relinquish all your fears and give in the pain floods in as you inhale Submission
relinquish all your hurt and begin to denounce this cruel world

When the sound of the burning fires awake you stir and come to smoke fills the sky and clouds and coves the frozen moon sever the growing distance between us and guide me to align worlds apart yet I felt the pulse like a severed vein

blood for blood
surrender or don't
but forgiveness is a myth to behold

No atonement or sins to be absolved There is no redemption within this life