

An empire built to stand the test of time
Crippled by might stones our forerunners laid
Exile or damnation, it was ours to decide
There's no escaping this reality we face

A fate created by tenacious complacence
This century of man has only hastened our demise
Humanity's dominion, inception to destruction

A celestial eclipse like no creature of this world has seen
Suffocating darkness embraces all
The end approaches

Oblivion

We shall exit this universe as we arrived
Exist to end, oblivion
Submit to the infinite

Will we be submerged by blackened waters of our own making
Or shall fated flames swallow this final bastion
A cloud of ash to be the sepulcher for the doomed that roam this world
Black clouds weep cosmic Armageddon
A final test for man, one which he will not endure
Below

Slate cataclysmic waves embrace our shores
Exhuming our primal fears
Disease lays siege on our confined conditions
Novel Plagues knew no rich nor poor

All equal in the eye of the destroyer
Suffocating darkness embraces all
Shown no mercy in eternal eyes
The end approaches

We shall exit this universe as we arrived
Exist to end, Oblivion
Submit to the infinite

Civilization built to fall
Conquest of the unknown comes to an end
Haunting this space in the galaxy for eternity

We shall exit this universe as we arrived
Exist to end, Oblivion
Submit to the infinite
Echoes now silenced by the chasm of space
Our stars now shadowed by devastation

Brace for collapse