

Another Paradigm

Tad Morose

Sitting here in my astral world
Beyond horizons of the human sense
Reached the dizzy state of mind but I don't recall when Forever lost in strange dimensions
A final outpost of existence I've never ever felt so cleansed
My energy is in it's purest form

Defy the test of time
Another paradigm awaits me
Looking down from the higher altitude I've left a wilted body behind
I've cast the chains of fragile human flesh
A glimpse of a phase called life
In this embracing presence something powerful is calling it's calling
It's time to go on my voyage through the halls of infinity
