Within a Dream

A ray of light hit my eyes I awake within a dream I see myself, in mourn I cry Why the sorrow, what have I seen? As I look to the sky I raise my hands and scream Tell me now, the reason why You have forsaken me In him we trust and we believe him In absolution, salvation, to live forever In him we trust and still we're bleeding We have to suffer to attain the grace of god

Alone, forsaken in a barren land Charred by fire long since gone Ripped from shelter, gods hand A musty smell so hideously strong As I look to the sky I raise my hands and scream Tell me now, the reason why You have forsaken me

In him we trust and we believe him In absolution, salvation, to live forever In him we trust and still we're bleeding We have to suffer to attain the grace of god

Tad Morose