Stop doing that, you're being strange and chilling
When I went through your coldness
The sun died and the darkness danced
Confusion came over me

When you walk so far
That you become a black dot
I swallowed my tears and with a tragic ending
Our love book comes to an end

The experience you gave me
The dreams drenched in sweat
Harder and harder
Your hand suffocates my heart
The experience you gave me
Tossing and turning as if having a nightmare I wake up in shock
The experience you gave me
Is like a terrible nightmare

It's scary, when I wake from this illusion
I could even see your intense face
Red and bruised, I start to drift
Will the scratched up wounds ever heal?

On the street of illusion where I thought I walked with an angel
My footsteps have stopped

Naive hopes that you would come looking for me
I can't get rid of it at once

The experience you gave me
The dreams drenched in sweat
Harder and harder
Your hand suffocates my heart
The experience you gave me
Tossing and turning as if having a nightmare I wake up in shock
The experience you gave me
Is like a terrible nightmare

The experience I gave you
A flower that wasn't loved
A dried up and crumbling hand
That can't catch you
The experience I gave you
On a night that is too tired to be beautiful
Continuing the dream
The experience I gave you
Write me the ending again
