Most of the rooms
I just hear it in silence
Singing loneliness and crying, rain sounds echoing
You are not here anymore, you're not there
I'm chasing afterimages that will not disappear
Oh, you tremble with the rain
That day when I touched that thin shoulder
It seems like yesterday's still
I'm crying I'm crying I'm crying cause I miss you

That eyes haven't seen me anymore

As it is transparent like a glass, ah
Please if you come to me and accused you of treacherously
You can give it up
Your heart will rain at any time
I couldn't be your umbrella
I will sing to the rain, I will sing to the rain, I love you

In those days, I was pretending not to notice your tears
A heart that fits just for the future drawn on its own
Apart from you, I don't need anything other than you
Now I can tell your thoughts
A landscape that I think is natural
Warmth on the left arm forever
Yes, I remember my mind
I'm trying I'm trying I'm trying to forget you

I want to keep this memory in my heart
The scent of wet hair suddenly goes, ah
Please take that hand once more and walk away
I swear, I will change
My heart will rain once
A time that seems eternally
I will stop falling, I will sing in the rain, I love you

You are also seeing the same sky somewhere
Gentle rain similar to love falls
Sorrow and regret will let me sorry softly
I'm crying I'm crying I'm crying cause I missing you

Until that tears sometime withers
What is that eyes looking for now?
As if it is transparent like a glass, ah
Please come and come to the side so do it please
I will give up if you blame me
Your heart will rain at any time
I wanted to be your umbrella
I will sing to the rain, I will sing to the rain, I love you
