Seven

Strangers a brand new world, taking control Breeding inside of you, feeding on souls See the sun rise slowly Will we ever see another one? The fear of being lonely Makes me think we are the chosen ones Leaders makes followers, swallow the lies I stare into your eyes, hollow inside Seven days passing by Leave no stones unturned behind me In a maze climbing walls My fates already been decided And I see those seven days again

Takida