

What if

Takida

I could have sworned that I was right
But you played with my mind
I don't want this to be something easy for me
You always tease me with your look
You're nothing like an open book
I just want you to say, call on my name

What if the sky were alone
No stars there will be
What if you were on your own
That's not meant to be

I don't wanna see you with someone
I just wanna be that special one
Why don't you let me into your life
I could be one big surprise
I set your fire, I make your wish
I just want one more kiss
They always say that you try to hard
If I only had the one right card

What if the sky were alone
No stars there will be
What if you were on your own
That's not meant to be

You gotta wait, hear what I say
No I can't, leave you alone like that
I wanna burn like fire
I wanna burn like fire

I could have sworned that I was right
But you played with my mind

What if the sky were alone
No stars there will be
What if you were on your own
That's not meant to be
