I wish, I could write a song just for you I don't know how It's when you're away, these walls show years I do know why

One hundred eyes have opened on you Where do you sleep?
It's when I'm alone at the end of your feet I do know why

Tomorrow it's better
To know you have said
Tomorrow show something
Else instead

Remember the dream you told me you had? Now, was it me? It's when I'm awake with a shrug at the day The sun will shine

How many knees have prayed in this house? Now, was it me? When I was away, just before time I let them all

Fill the fields, fill the noise You've shown better than this before Fill the fields, fill the noise Let them shuffle around this town
