L.E.D.

Tallah

I've been bent too far to be me
And I've struggled with this-I'm crooked
And that's what brings the constant sigh from her mouth
I'm a disappointment and nothing else

But if I get one chance to show how I shine
I'm wolfing down all fifteen hundred watts

Turn it up
-Looks between rather than above
What the fuck do you take me for?
With everything that bitch said
She don't watch her back, she gon' end up a mattress
No one could be me better than me
Step up and see
What the fuck do you take me for?
With everything that bitch said
She don't watch her back, she gon' end up a mattress

Fifteen hundred watts, bitch
And I'll remind you all night
You'll regret once you've plugged
I'm your son-I'm your star-I'm your sun
I light your world

Defiled, the defamation is an abstract fact
'Cause my vilification's an art form

Fuck that
I don't know who I am anymore
When I watch that reflection, I hate me
I'll shove a wire down the throat of the hodgepodge I see

Turn it up
-Looks between rather than above
What the fuck do you take me for?
With everything that bitch said
She don't watch her back, she gon' end up a mattress
No one could be me better than me
Step up and see
What the fuck do you take me for?
With everything that bitch said
She don't watch her back, she gon' end up a mattress

I see no evil... I hear no evil... I speak no evil...
Bright were the lights that led me to sin
Into the bathroom, I wrought throe-wrought throe
Bright were the lights that led me to sin
Bright were the lights that let me see
