Talos

I wore a rogue lightning love
Hide that call we've known and feel you lie down
This speak of silenced defeat
What she says she breathes, I walk the wild now
Just burn the worlds where you stand
Cardless, doomed, defend, I lie the God down

Go down south and feel adorned
Temper islands to salt white cores
Leave the garden's eyes wide shut
Send up a white light to see the calls come

I loved you wild, don't you know?
Darkness kept her cloak and saw the blind out
This speak of silenced defeat
Cowards over thieves, I walk the wild now

Now go down south and feel adorned
Temper islands to salt white cores
Leave the garden's eyes wide shut
Send up a white light to see the calls come
