Tamela Mann

If I told you who I really was
Would you still listen when I say to you
God is good
If I showed you my humanity
Would you still see his hand on me

If you saw my scars
And felt the pain, I feel
Would you believe me when I say he still heals
If I lost it all
Nowhere to abide
I will still believe that he will
He will provide

Is it the truth if my life looks like a lie
Will his truth still stand if nothing's going right
I will still be a witness to all that you can do
I will sing of your mercy and all you brought us through
I will still be your witness, I will still be your witness
And when the truth looks like a lie declare
I will live and not die

I'm gonna live
Just declare those things that be not
And watch what he gives

I'm gonna live
Just declare those things that be not
And watch what he gives
I'm gonna live
Just declare those things that be not
And watch what he gives
I'm gonna live
Just declare those things, declare those things
Declare those things
I'm gonna live
