

Heading for Eternity

Tank

There was a time, a time that everyone seems to forget
A time when all, when all these feelings were locked in my head

I'm turning and returning to a place that I know will give me comfort
I close my eyes and let it slide then realise this life I live ain't perfect
Nothing here is perfect

Here I go again
I'm heading for eternity
I'll get there in the end
And let my soul go free

And now, and now we sail cross the deepest of seas
To find the truth, the truth we know that will let us be free

I'm back again to what I know and now the world will see the blazing splendour
The path I chose may be too slow but in the end I know it will be perfect
This time it will be perfect

Here I go again
I'm heading for eternity
I'll get there in the end
And let my soul go free

We saw the signs, and they will come down and lead us ahead
For one last time, we will be chosen to lead the undead

I'm turning and returning to a place that I know will give me comfort
I close my eyes and let it slide then realise that sometimes life is perfect
Sometimes life is perfect
Just sometimes life is perfect
But nothing here is perfect!

Here I go again
I'm heading for eternity
I'll get there in the end
And let my soul go free