

The Last Stumble

Tantric

In a blink of an eye we said
So many things that we forget
And life gets in the way of it all
And we don't notice that we fall

So I'm trying to make a call
And remind you that you have heart
Don't forget about where we started
From, again

Well, we can't find the reasons
While we stumble and we fall
We're just humans being
We recover from our faults
Well, nobody finds a way to understand
They find a way to comprehend

Forgiveness I'll always accept
I won't dwell in the past instead
Don't forget about what you meant
When you left me from far ahead
I just want you to live your soul
I just want you to have control
I just want you to know your life
I just want you to see your night
That becomes day

Well, we can't find the reasons
While we stumble and we fall
We're just humans being
We recover from our faults
Well, nobody finds a way to understand
They find a way to comprehend