

Wake Up

Taproot

Everyday seems to dress the same
I'm awake and I might need for a change
So who do you want for me to be?
You're looking for something that isn't me
Everytime I close my eyes
I hear those lies inside:
"We're no good together, we're no good together"

We wake up
And you break up
This happens everytime
(Just make your mind)
You break up
And we make up
It happens everytime
(Just make up your mind)
"We're no good together, we're no good together anymore"

In a way I can understand
What you say is just a part of my plan
But why is your voice so mean to me?
I'm so worn down how you wear on me
Everytime I close my eyes
I hear those lies

We wake up
And you break up
This happens everytime
(Just make your mind)
You break up
And we make up
It happens everytime
(Just make up your mind)
"We're no good together, we're no good together anymore"

I would stay
But I can't give in of all that doubt
So why do you think that your voice is mean to me?
I wish that instead
There was a way you could understand
What I say is just a part of where I am

We wake up
And you break up
This happens everytime
(Just make your mind)
You break up
And we make up
It happens everytime
(Just make up your mind)

Wake up, break up with me
This happens everytime
(Just make up your mind)
Break up, make up with me
It happens everytime
(Just make up your mind)

"We're no good together, we're no good together anymore"