

Worth It

Tate McRae

Life gets a little bit crazy
And we all get a little hazy
But you know, we can't be perfect
And we all are so worth it

Sometimes I look at myself
And wonder why I'm not anyone else
But then I remember
That I am special
And so are you, on every single level

Life gets a little bit crazy
And we all get a little hazy
But you know, we can't be perfect
And we all are so worth it

I walk into the room
And the first thing I do is assume
That everyone is staring
To the point where I get buried
I open up my eyes
And start to realize
I'm the only person caring
And I who loves the real me

You, you are the one
That makes this world
Come together as one
You, you are the one
Who works so hard
And ain't gonna give up

Life gets a little bit crazy
And we all get a little hazy
But you know, we can't be perfect
And we all are so... are so worth it

I walk into the room
And the first thing I do is assume
That I am different
From all of you
And that's OK
Cause life's a little bit crazy
But maybe it will all make sense one day
