

Justified

Tayla Parx

You can't solve my problems
Some seasons don't change
Whether it's gon' be you or me
Our hearts break the same

'Cause I'm way too smart to be stupid
Tried to pull my head from my heart, but it's useless
I know I ain't perfect, do you know somebody who is?
And I know I'm too grown for the bullshit
Once upon a time, used to snap, used to lose it
Now I've got the world in my hand, won't abuse it

Am I justified?
I'm at a fork in the road with good enough intention you could cut with a knife
So am I justified?
I'm at a fork in the road with all of my decisions never been s atisfied

You're damn close to perfect
Only a fool won't agree
So how could I be this foolish? 'Bout to risk it all
When you would never do that to me

Ooh, and I'm way too smart to be stupid
Tried to pull my head from my heart, but it's useless
I know I ain't perfect, do you know somebody who is?
I'm way too grown for the bullshit
Once upon a time, used to snap, used to lose it
I know I ain't perfect, do you know somebody who is?

Am I justified?
I'm at a fork in the road with good enough intention you could
cut with a knife
So am I justified?
I'm at a fork in the road with all of my decisions never been s atisfied

Great start, that's the mark, playing Tetris
Filthy art, leave your dirty heart on the mattress
Agonized then praised woman, planets and all, baby
Need to be grounded, confidence is down, uh

Am I justified? (You must be lost, you must be lost, you must b e lost)
I'm at a fork in the road with good enough intention you could cut with a knife (You must be lost, you must be lost, you must be lost)

So am I justified? (You must be lost, you must be lost, you must be lost)

I'm at a fork in the road with all of my decisions never been satisfied (You must be lost, you must be lost, you must be lost)