

Good Enough

Taylor Acorn

Who do you want me to be?
I've done all I can to fit into your box
Be the girl with the heart on her sleeve
Or the one who's too tough to care about what you think
It's never enough for you

What do you expect me to say?
You know me too well, you see through the charade
And I won't pretend I'm okay
If you loosen your grip, won't you give me a break?
I'm never enough

My reflection's my worst critic
I try my best but I'm still sinking
Facing the mirror, don't know who I see
I'll never be good enough for you
'Cause I'll never be good enough for me

Where did the happiness go?
Standing right here, I've got nothing to show
Watching it all fade away
It's hard to believe there's still blood in my veins
Never enough, no I'm never enough

My reflection's my worst critic
I try my best but I'm still sinking
Facing the mirror, don't know who I see
I'll never be good enough for you
'Cause I'll never be good enough for me

Good enough for me
Good enough for me
Good enough for me

Who do you want me to be?
Yeah, who do you want me to be?

My reflection's my worst critic
I try my best but I'm still sinking
Facing the mirror, don't know who I see
I'll never be good enough for you
'Cause I'll never be good enough for me

Good enough for me
Good enough for me
Good enough for me
I'll never be good enough for me
