

Nervous System

Taylor Acorn

Thought I was numb from the inside out
Yeah, love would run when I came around
And then you showed up, dissected it
Like I was your experiment
You split me up in increments, oh shit

You must have tapped into my nervous system
How'd you go blur my vision?
Little weaker in the knees (than I'd like to be)
Sending signals in my sleep to my dreams
Your touch goes shooting through my veins
And my blood isn't getting to my brain
No I'm not working properly, think I need a lobotomy
Oh the way that you got to me

My chemicals must be out of line (something isn't right)
It's visceral, this glitch in my design (I don't even mind)
Think I'm having an out of body experience
What the hell'd you do?

You must have tapped into my nervous system
How'd you go blur my vision?
Little weaker in the knees (than I'd like to be)
Sending signals in my sleep to my dreams
Your touch goes shooting through my veins
And my blood isn't getting to my brain
No I'm not working properly, think I need a lobotomy
Oh the way that you got to me

My nervous system
My nervous system

Thought I was numb from the inside out

You must have tapped into my nervous system
How'd you go blur my vision?
Little weaker in the knees (than I'd like to be)
Sending signals in my sleep to my dreams
Your touch goes shooting through my veins
And my blood isn't getting to my brain
No I'm not working properly, think I need a lobotomy
Oh the way that you got to me

My nervous system
My nervous system