

Somehow

Tedeschi Trucks Band

How many times will you walk away?
How many times is the price I pay too high?
How many times can you make me beg
Look that way and wreck my head?
How many times will you steal my sleep at night?

How many crimes will you need my lies?
How many crimes need an alibi I swear?
How many times will I have to read
All your words and the in-between?
How many times will you tell me, baby
No, nothing 'bout love is fair?

Still, you stone me
Something 'bout you knocks me down
Still, you own me
This fool has fallen overboard
Man don't have a prayer no more
Makes me wanna try to hold onto you
Somehow, somehow, somehow

What put the fire in the cold of night?
What strikes a match in a stranger's eye so bright?
Makes us want, and makes us seek
The flicker of somebody's heat
How can what should be wrong on paper
Be written in the heart so right?

Still, you stone me
Something 'bout you knocks me down
Still, you own me
This fool has fallen overboard
Man don't have a prayer no more
Makes me wanna try to hold onto you
Somehow, somehow, somehow

Still, you stone me
Something 'bout you knocks me down
Still, you own me
This fool has fallen overboard
Man don't have a prayer no more
Makes me wanna try to hold onto you
Somehow, somehow, somehow, somehow
Somehow, somehow, somehow

Somehow