

You're so Different

Teedra Moses

Had to write a song
About how you turn me on
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
And you say just what you mean
You recognize a queen
In between the sheets, you got that thing that makes me scream

See, 'cause he never deserved it
Damn, you're so worth it

Chemistry when we blaze it's amazing, we're so perfect
I'm your #1 fan, butter with the jam
When we come together, it's the sweetest baby yam
I really don't know where this all will go
I don't even care 'cause I'm so glad you're here
It's a feeling so rare, I usually wouldn't dare
But I'mma give it all to you while people stop and stare
Welcome to the show
Oh you didn't know?
Lil' mama's a freak and I ain't ashamed to be

But he never deserved it
Damn, you're so worth it
Baby you're so different than that fuckboy that I was with

You are a gentleman
That you're so sweet to me
I don't even have to ask
Baby you supply my needs
(Baby you are)

Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known

He never deserved it
Damn you're so worth it
He never deserved it no no
But damn you're so worth it
(You're different)

Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
Baby you're so different than them fuckboys that I've known
(You are, you are, you are...)