

Suffer

Tegan and Sara

Did you ever see the concrete
Stares of everyday?
The lunatic
The hypocrite
Are all lost in the fray

Can't you see their lives are just like yours?
An unturned stone, an undiscovered

Door leading to
The gift of hope renewed
Eternity for you

The masses of humanity have always had to suffer

The businessman whose master plan
Controls the world each day
Is blind to indications of
His species' slow decay

Can't you see his life is just like yours?
An unturned stone, an undiscovered

Door leading to
The gift of hope renewed
Eternity for you

The masses of humanity have always had to suffer

People blow their minds
They choose to resign
This deformed society
Is part of the design
It'll never go away
It's in the cards that way
The masses of humanity
Have always, always had to suffer!

A door leading to
The gift of hope renewed
Eternity for you
The masses of humanity
Still clinging to their dignity

The masses of humanity will always have to suffer

Always have to suffer