

FAMILIAR

Tei Shi

I put my hands and my heart on the table
And then both of them turned to stone
I know I shouldn't bother to keep it together
Tie me up in a beautiful bow

And I know, and I know
You've got somewhere to be
Is that somewhere with me?
I'm not ready, I'm not ready
I'm not ready to learn

Something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the mirror
Yea something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the

After the sky turns to grey
And the city looks like somebody's forgotten dream
I go out for a walk
Just to talk to the people that I don't want to talk to again

And I know
I know I've got a chip on my shoulder
Don't tell me you don't
I'm not ready, I'm not ready
I'm not ready to learn

Something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the mirror
Yea something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the mirror
Something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the mirror
Yea something feels so familiar
But I can't find myself in the

But I can't, but I can't, but I can't...
