

Breathe

Temperance

One day remains until the end of my life

Who could tell?
There is just one way
Wasting time
Every night the same
Look ahead, I have found a breath
Giving a new life to my melodies

Never again, I won't give up with my
My endless climbing for more
Once more again, I will find you somewhere
Through the clouds, waiting for your return

Well, you'll be there, where everybody goes then
Death doesn't care, I will rejoin with you in the end

A distant road
With a golden floor
Now it waits for me
No more tears I know

Another note writes my secret life
I can't accept the whole truth
Once more again, I will find you somewhere
Through the clouds, waiting for your return

Well, you'll be there, where everybody goes then
Death doesn't care, I will rejoin with you in the end

As a shiny day
Ending up in a moon
No words still remain
There's nothing left to say
Under starry skies
My sight in light and shade
I'll see you once again
Before I find my end

As a shiny day
Ending up in a moon
No words still remain
There's nothing left to say
Under starry skies
My sight in light and shade
I'll see you once again
Before I find my end

Well, you'll be there, where everybody goes then
Death doesn't care, I will rejoin with you in the end
Well, you'll be there, where everybody goes then
Death doesn't care, I will rejoin with you in the end