

Catch The Dream

Temperance

Look at me, I'm so alive
Ever if we're far apart, you'll hear my prayer
With your hands and with your voice
Join this song and shout it out to make it start
Yes I know, it's only us
But every single voice is vital for this choir
Let it out, let it begin
And a thousand people will then sing as one
Don't wait for tomorrow, today is the day
Believe in the magic, just follow the way
There is no distance between you and us
Break all the wall from your soul to your mind
I won't even ask you to learn each other's names
This song has no labels, no color, no faith
May tomorrow come to catch the dream
Our voices will begin to sing
Go, catch the dream
