

I remember I used to believe we were here just passing by
I gave up to a life without purpose and love
I woke up every night in tears and I always wondered why
Then a voice in my head put an end to my cries...

Close your eyes, pretend the light's off now
No matter where you are, they'll soon reveal their name

Wake me up when diamonds will light up the dark
The more I believe it, the less they'll fall apart
Far beyond the horizon they'll shine like the sun
A million of voices will rise to sing as one
They're defying gravity, against all the odds, facing all of our fears
It's a new reality, believe it or not: now their message is clear

There's a meaning for everything, it was wrong to wonder why?
Just embrace every moment you live and surrender to your destiny

Your spirit blends with time, your future starts this way:
There won't be yesterday

Wake me up when diamonds will light up the dark
The more I believe it, the less they'll fall apart
Far beyond the horizon they'll shine like the sun
A million of voices will rise to sing as one
They're defying gravity, against all the odds, facing all of our fears
It's a new reality, believe it or not: now their message is clear

In a blink of an eye they will shine, winding up with their light our lives
In a blink of an eye they will shine, giving hope to this life

Wake me up when diamonds will light up the dark
The more I believe it, the less they'll fall apart
Far beyond the horizon they'll shine like the sun
A million of voices will rise to sing as one
They're defying gravity, against all the odds, facing all of our fears
It's a new reality, believe it or not: now their message is clear