

Evelyn

Temperance

I will fade away
Forget yesterday
Forgive me in this day
As I say goodbye
It's unbearable
I can't let it go
Losing my hope
I know there's just one way
And though it's hard to say
With a broken heart
It's sadly clear I've reached the end of the line
Please spare all your prayers for another day
I know, it's time to go

My skin of porcelain
Oh, my hair of gold
It all will be gone
I'm running out of time
So my final step
As I'm standing here
(The) last wish of a fool
Is to make it all remain
And it all becomes real
As the whispers in my ears
Tell me I have to face the truth

The scars are healing
The pain is gone
I am touching the ground
Voices and colors
In the longest fall
They all faded away

In a grave made of steel
I can now close my eyes
In sacred silence, I'll fall asleep
Please spare all your prayers for another day
I know, it's time to move on

The scars are healing
The pain is gone
I am touching the ground
Voices and colors
In the longest fall
They all faded away