

Goodbye

Temperance

I'm waking up again in this nightmare
Thinking it cannot be real
Oh it feels so cold, I'm so alone
How I can go on without looking in your eyes
Without your warmth, without your touch?

I know there is nothing I can do
To bring you back to me
But I try to stand, I can't let go
I just cannot fill all of this emptiness you left
There is no choice, I miss your voice

Times pass me by, but I still try
I try not to say goodbye
And I hate the way our fate has played with us
Times pass me by, but I deny that I have to say goodbye

Bitter tears are flowing on my cheeks
Another winter has gone
And I know I'll mourn you until my end
Time just cannot heal and this burden's crushing me
With memories crowding my mind

Times pass me by, but I still try
I try not to say goodbye
And I've locked your memory inside my heart
So hard to face reality
It is so sad to say goodbye

I'm still missing you so bad and it hurts
I don't wanna say goodbye

Times pass me by, but I still try
I try not to say goodbye
And I hate the way our fate has played with us
Times pass me by, but I deny that I have to say goodbye...

Times pass me by, but I still try
I try not to say goodbye
And I've locked your memory inside my heart
So hard to face reality
But it's time to say goodbye