

Hero

Temperance

I am not a hero
I'm not what you think

Seven days, a morning mess
I know it's just my own life
Looking for another world
I try not to burn out

The world awaits, so here I am

I am not a hero
I am not what you think
I just try to do my best and not to give in
I am not your hero and that's why sometimes
I hide in a dark corner to break down and cry

Seven, they are my sins
Burning flames under my skin
No hesitation, no turning back
I follow my rules, I try to forget
The burden I carry, used to slow me down
But now I am rising with a new strength

I am not a hero
I am not what you think
I just try to do my best and not to give in
I am not your hero and that's why sometimes
I hide in a dark corner to break down and cry...

I am not a hero
I am not what you think
I just try to do my best and not to give in
I am not your hero and that's why sometimes
I hide in a dark corner to break down and cry...

I am not a hero
I am not what you think
I just try to do my best and not to give in
I am not your hero and that's why sometimes
I hide in a dark corner to break down and cry