

Nanook

Temperance

A call from the mountains, so clear and loud
Started to echo in the trees
A gold-winged spirit came from the sky
And I was just what it was looking for

I've made my decision, I have no regrets
I saw the other side of the mirror
These were the few words I was able to say
Before being carried away

Can you see that light?
I can feel it in the air
But There's one thing that I can't explain
I just seemed to fall down on the ground

Spread your wings and fly
Reaching for the skies
You will see the eagle
Through its amber eyes

Stay awake tonight
'Til the sun will rise
(The) sky will be the limit
Just for you and I
A road map of stars here around us
Will show you the long way to go
You'll look at the world through new eyes

And you will find another reason to fight
The hunter's blood running deep through my veins
My vision is clearer than ever
A sort of enchantment's revealing my image

I won't be a man anymore
Judgment Day has come
This will be my fast farewell
Everyday I will spend up there
I'll remember that precious advice

Spread your wings and fly
Reaching for the skies
You will see the eagle
Through its amber eyes

Stay awake tonight
'Til the sun will rise
(The) sky will be the limit
Just for you and I
Spread your wings and fly
Reaching for the skies
You will see the eagle
Through its amber eyes
Stay awake tonight

(The) sky will be the limit
Just for you and I

Spread your wings and fly
You will see the eagle
Through its amber eyes
(The) sky will be the limit
