

No Devotion

TENDER

Well, maybe that's where your mind goes
Got your head in the clouds
And if you ever come down
Maybe we can talk about it and you can tell me what you saw

Maybe that's why you drift away
To dream of islands and silver haze
And getting caught amongst the waves
It's all you want, it's all you need

I don't know why you try so hard
To fill the void, you tore a part from me
You clearly meant it
You can't embrace it
You're ever distant
So what you missing?

I don't know why you slipped away
I never even asked you to stay baby
Cracks appeared and we both start to fade
But we're already broken
There's no devotion

Maybe I'm really to blame
I got my head in the sand
I just can't understand why you're vacant and not there
Try to be patient with you, but I'm too scared

Tell me what I'm doing wrong
I'm wearing thin but holding on
For you
For you

I don't know why you try so hard
To fill that void, you tore a part from me
You clearly meant it
You can't embrace it
You're ever distant
So what you missing?

I don't know why you slipped away
I never even asked you to stay baby
Cracks appeared and we both start to fade
But we're already broken
There's no devotion

I don't know why you try so hard
To fill that void, you tore a part from me
You clearly meant it
You can't embrace it
You're ever distant
So what you missing?

I don't know why you slipped away
I never even asked you to stay baby
Cracks appeared and we both start to fade
But we're already broken

There's no devotion