

Ev'rythang

Terence Trent D'Arby

The view from the mountain Is the same as the one from the shore
The view from an open window Is the same as from a closed door
The fabulous sunset Is a joy to behold And the chains of perception Have broken their mold I want to be one with Everything, everything, everything

I look at my sister and at my brother I see that I'm no more, nor less than another I see that the rainbow is my family tree I love every color and every mother Cause everyone is family I want to be one with Everything, everything, everything
