Oh my mother She is a mountain And her breast It touch the sky And my father He is a river Running through her Sweet bye and bye And my sister She is a songbird And she's singing in her flight And my brother He is a moonbeam Failing on her in the night There is a river Run through the mountains Under moonlight Hear the song Of the bloodlines Gone long before me And ever after... Moving on Ever after...moving on