

Undetected

Tesla Boy

Let me stay in summer house and hide
Which the clock until the stars go blind
Trace the images of you inside
Tune the radio and get a ride

Undetected pain running through my mind
Running through my mind
I escape again leaving all behind

Undetected pain running through my mind
Running through my mind
I escape again leaving all behind

Have you tried to fill the gap with lies
On the road and in the town of lights
Every-time we hit a line you cried
I remember how you shine and smile

Undetected pain running through my mind
Running through my mind
I escape again leaving all behind

Undetected pain running through my mind
Running through my mind
I escape again leaving all behind
