

Sacrifice

Tesseract

I am a shoulder and a crutch to hold on to
Rise up, consider me yours
Are your memories worthy of the fall?
As tender moments lay scattered on the floor

Distance is nothing when we dream together
Rise up
The words I leave behind will last forever
Rise up
And watch the seasons change
Slow down
Show me that you're in control
Stand up
'Cause I need my vision changed
Because I'm older
I'm wiser
I am almost there
Because I'm older
I'm stronger
So much stronger
I was waiting for another voice to say

You're shut down
Show me that you're in control
In control
Able to be left alone
Have faith
You're in and out of circulation
Treading lines
Getting stuck at every sign
So turn your back on misery

Now because you're older
And wiser
You are drawn to me
Can you hear me?
No one can take this all away from me
I was waiting for another voice to say
Can you hear me?
I am almost there

When I can't find my way to your grave
You show me a million ways
There's a comfort in the yearning
I saw the life in your eyes
A deep emptiness and sadness as the years went by
The never ending swell, let it begin
Will we become one with our teacher?

I am a shoulder and a crutch to hold on to

Now because we're older
Stronger
We are all those things (Drawn to me)
We were never meant to be
Stronger

Wiser
So much wiser
We are almost there
We were never there
