

You are lifeless and you can't see beyond Your addiction that has you holding on To worthless courage, you were the only one That I had faith in, that I had faith in Trust was abandoned

when you took me for granted

I know that you're suffering although you know it's all your fault I tried so hard to rescue you but only you can save yourself

There comes a time when we figure out What's right and wrong, you were mistaken

One-eyed monster, you're killing yourself
You've lost everything and anything that you've come across
One-eyed monster, you're killing yourself
You've lost everything and anything
that you've come across

Trust was abandoned
when you took me for granted
Trust was abandoned
when you took me for granted

Slowly we sank to nothing together
I never wanted to be in this place you put me in
I will never get back the time I spent trying to make things right again
Slowly we sank to nothing together
I never wanted to be in this place you put me in
I will never get back the time I spent
trying to make things right again