

When we start it off the heart is soft
No bereavement and no grievances
Adam and Eve with no diseases yet
The memory has faded while you've waited
Compromised and traded
Till you became the things you hated

The world is run by evil people
The world will make us evil people
Please don't leave, I need you
The world is run by evil people
The world is full of evil people
Please don't leave, I need you

There are monsters, I have seen them
Creeping in the evening
Feeding off the dreams that you believe in
There are demons, I have seen them
Creeping on the weekends

Our habits and our rituals
Our myths and mystics, crystal balls
Our habits and our rituals
Our myths and mystics, crystal balls

The world is run by evil people
The world will make us evil people
Please don't leave, I need you
The world is run by evil people
The world is full of evil people
Please don't leave, I need you

They are looking at you hungrily
'Cause misery loves company
Comforting uncomfortably
'Cause misery loves company

The world is run by evil people
The world will make us evil people
Please don't leave, I need you
The world is run by evil people
The world is full of evil people
Please don't leave, I need you
