

Reach

The Afterimage

I am constantly dwelling on these memories that take me to the place I want to be Can you hear me now? I know that you're searching, I know that you're seeking something Can you feel me now? I know that you're searching, I know that you're seeking something so far from my reach
I hope you realize though we are lost, we are not alone
Together we'll be searching and answers will surely come You're so far from my reach and I'd give anything to return to way we used to be Losing everything made me see clearly I'm willing to forfeit al l that I am so that I may be with you again (You again)

You knew you'd find me here
It took me losing sight to count it all as a loss
I hope you realize, though we are lost we are not alone
Together we're searching and the answers will surely come

Can you feel me now? I know that you're searching, I know that you're seeking something so far from my reach Without you I'm nothing
Release I'll release everything
Release all I am I'm constantly doubting my abilities
You're so far from my reach

Release I'll release everything
Release all I am I'm constantly doubting my abilities
You're so far from my reach