

Secrets

The Afterimage

Turn your eyes around
Don't bear these secrets let them be found

You've convinced yourself, conforming your own thoughts
Changing memories
Relaying images that have never been seen
But you believe them to be true
All these stories that are within you
See you've been told that what I don't know won't hurt me
You're deciding how I should feel and I won't ever know what's real
Don't decide for me, you don't have the fucking right
I really want to believe you this time

Turn your eyes around
Change is in the heart our paths wind the same way

Berated, you can't go without lies spewing from your mouth
Careless, yet never in doubt
You're determined to shut me out
You're determined to shut me out
I'll close my eyes, relax my mind
Unfold your lies, but everything won't be fine
I'll close my eyes, relax my mind

Turn your eyes around
Don't bear these secrets let them be found
You'll wake up and hear me so pay attention
Let your mind free, let the word out
Change is in the heart our paths wind the same way

I hope you choose the next one wisely
So that you never have to discover what I feels like to see those who believed you take a step in front of a gun for your sake
(Take a step in front of a gun for your sake)

I hope you choose the next one wisely
So that you never have to discover what I feels like to see those who
believed you take a step in front of a gun for your sake

You daytime tells all the lies
As the sun distracts your thoughts, showing how things could be
Night time is truth, night time is truth
It screams and it shouts at you
Night time is truth, night time is truth
I know you thought this was the moral thing to do
Night time is truth, night time is truth
I won't be anything true to you
I won't be anything to you