

Seeking

The Afterimage

Now is the time to reach out before I find myself on the edge of existence

(The edge of existence)

Evolving from an agonizing birth, dark days eclipsing draining all self-worth

Dreams of hideous splendour begin

Conceal my faith, I'll seek redemption

Dark days eclipsing draining my worth

(Dark days eclipsing)

I'm growing weary of destroying all the evidence

I'm growing uncertain of the outcome

With all these constant reminders of where I've gone and what I 've seen

When you said you were searching, I hoped that you'd find me

When you said you were searching, I hoped that you'd find me, now

(When you said you were searching)

When you said you were searching, I hoped that you'd find me, now

(When you said you were searching)

Searching

Living in oceans of assaulted tranquility; only a shadow, I have inaudibly fallen through

Everything that I longed for was right before my eyes

(Before my eyes)

Neglected abandoned

As you walked away and called back my name, I knew then I had made a mistake

Crashing into the harsh reality, that things will never be the same

(They won't be the same)

I'm dead to you

I'm dead to you forever

I can never get back what I chose to throw away Dreams of bliss repeat my name

Choices made without the heart, now despised

Choices made without the heart, now despised

When you said you were searching, I hoped that you'd find me

I know you're seeking more. I know that you're searching I know you're seeking more. I hoped that you'd find me

I know, I know that you're seeking I know, I know that you're s earching. I know, I know that you're seeking (I know that you're seeking)

I know, I know that you're searching