The Void

The Afterimage

I felt the presence of hate but I never thought I'd embrace it.
Here is the enemy that has taken control.
An enemy that has haunted my soul.

I am absent minded.
Free me from myself.
Free me.

I burnt these bridges.

Show me the way out.
Then show me the way out.
Show me the way out.
Show me the world.

I'll be rid of this world. Free me from myself.

Who am I to say everything will be alright when we've ruptured the foundations.

I have become so bitter.
I don't think I can create my own destiny.
Who am I to say everything will be alright, when I've ruptured the foundations.

The countless times we'll fall.

You've become, you've become.

You've become the Void in my life.

But you had all the answers, you had them.
You had all the answers.
You have a sense of formless importance.
