Half Of Something Else

The Airborne Toxic Event

On the night that we met You said that you wanted Something more from me And it was all that I could do

I remember your face, like a child The way that you blushed and The way that you smiled

And now it's all that I can do And I wake up feeling new There's so much more I never knew

So I think of all the years spent alone It's like you're searching for something To make you feel whole

Like you're half of something else Like you're half of something else Just a fraction of yourself

Don't take it so hard; We did what we could There were no easy answers To be understood

It was all that we could do We're the only ones who knew Now all I think about is you

The way that you screamed
The way that you cried
The way that you wipe your eyes
And fall against my side
The way that you told
Told me I was wrong
And the way that you'd sing
When you'd hear a song

And the way that you answered When you knew I was gone

Now I know that I'm blind And that you're all I see And yeah I know it's not clever But I just want you with me

I'm only half of something else
I'm only half of something else
I'm only half of something else
