

Time Machine

The Androids

Picture this a frame upon a wall
Empty and vacant nothing there at all
Step through this door to the gates of dawn
Back to the past before mankind was born

Fly my friend in my time machine
See my friend what no one else has seen
Time means nothing

Together we will travel timeless in our love
Bodies and our minds melting into one
Sojourn into silence where eternity unwinds
Back to the present to see what we can find

Fly my friend in my time machine
See my friend what no one else has seen
Time means nothing
In my Time machine

Into the future a million years from now
Forgot what we found there but often wondered how
Time is running wild but we are slowing down
My eyes are getting dimmer I can't see what I've found
Peace at last oblivion is mine
We've come to the end so look for one last time

Fly my friend in my time machine
Be my friend where no one else has been
Where time means nothing
In my Time machine
Time means nothing
In my Time machine
Time means nothing
In my Time machine
Time means nothing
In my Time machine