

Hollow

The Anix

I've waited long, enough to see, a thousand pictures, torn of me
You watched and waited, carefully aware
I've learned to love, this dream inside, fever obscuring, my sight
Sometimes I see, your silhouette pass by

Don't feel, my footsteps falling, can't see, my picture there
Can't find, myself recalling, you were never, really there

Take me back, to where this started and rearrange, the course of time
'Cause it's the only way, to end the sorrow
And you remind me, why I'm so, hollow

I've come to mute, the voice inside, but tainted visions, cloud my mind
I'll descend deeper, as I quantify

Don't feel, my footsteps falling, can't see, my picture there
Can't find, myself recalling, you were never, really there

Take me back, to where this started (where this started)

Take me back, to where this started and rearrange, the course of time
'Cause it's the only way, to end the sorrow
And you remind me, why I'm so, hollow

(Take me back, to where this started and rearrange, the course of time)
And you remind me, why I'm so, hollow
(And you remind me) why I'm so, hollow

Take me back, to where this started, take me back, to where this started
And you remind me, why I'm so, hollow
