The other night I had a dream you were by my side We left another broken memory behind Sailed together to a better beyond Heard somebody singing We followed the song

I want to live for the day that it all goes right

If I can reach you I can teach you how to stand and fight?

I think you got that spark in your eyes

Exonerate your chosen fate

Lose the disquise

We're real life dreamers I'm a sworn believer Real life dreamers Let your real life unfold

You might think that I'm talking like a lunatic But what if I was the one who stands to win I think you know this ain't the way it should be The life I knew taught me to believe in a dream

Real life dreamers Sworn believers Real life dreamers Let your real life unfold Let your real life unfold

This is real to you, real to me This is real to you, real to me This is real to you, real to me This is real life
