Baroque

The Apples In Stereo

In the moonlight I see my memories in a new light, they seem so real to me I remember, you know I remember

And the starlight tripping in the sky come on, we can still go there tonight I remember, you know I remember

We haven't changed we just feel a little strange we haven't changed we're just a little bit deranged

In the moonlight I think about the past and in hindsight, I knew it wouldn't last I remember, you know I remember

And the starlight skipping on the bay come on, we can still go there today I remember, you know I remember

We haven't changed we just feel a little strange we haven't changed we're just a little bit deranged

In the moonlight I see my memories I realize I need you here with me I remember, you know I remember

We haven't changed we just feel a little strange we haven't changed we're just a little bit deranged