

All Is Mine

The Association

Never can you have more from life than what you give
Never can you know more of truth than what you live
But what I have and live today is shared by few
For never could I have more from life than loving you

All is mine if you are mine

What may come and just where I'll be I'm not to know
What's conceived may just die today or live and grow
But what I know and live today is shared by few
For what more, please, could I ask of life than loving you

All is mine if you are mine

My hunger is fulfilled
My restlessness is still
The bird has flown, his world, he's seen
Now makes his home...home in the evergreens

But what I know and live today is shared by few
What more, please, could I ask of life than loving you

All is mine if you are mine
You are mine

...