Message Of Our Love

The Association

Wind escorts the day outside Clouds of sheep's wool lionize the moon For soon the moment that we meet Phantom trees that whisper down the street Relay our message of love

Night, what mysteries will it bring Who can tell when Spring becomes of age One page of letters bound foretells Of the sorrow that your kiss dispels And holds our message of love

Fires at horizon's edge
Warm the soft breath of this pledge of ours
Bright stars that linger in their flight
Who will know the plans we share tonight
Reflect our message of love

They heed the message They heed the message They heed the message
